ABSTRACT: The proposed action is the disposal of the property made available by the closure of the Jefferson Proving Ground, Madison, Indiana. Encumbered disposal, unencumbered disposal, and no action alternatives are analyzed. Reuse of the property is analyzed as a secondary or subsequent effect of disposing of the facility property. This environmental impact statement analyzes potential environmental and socioeconomic consequences of three reuse scenarios. Actions associated with closure of the Jefferson Proving Ground are discussed in this document but not analyzed. The environmental impacts resulting from closure of the Jefferson Proving Ground were addressed in an environmental impact statement published in September 1991 by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.
